NATURAL SCIENCE

REALITY

PREMISE

Physics gives us extraordinarily successful mathematical descriptions of nature. But whether those descriptions reveal what reality is, rather than merely predicting what we observe, remains a philosophical question.

QUESTION

Do you think science discovers reality, or only increasingly accurate ways of describing it?