NATURAL SCIENCE

SCALE

PREMISE

The laws governing atoms, living organisms, planets and galaxies are studied at radically different scales, and phenomena can emerge at one scale that are not obvious at another.

QUESTION

Is there one underlying reality beneath all scientific disciplines, or are different levels of reality genuinely different?